7. Regarding Dog Agility Equipment, note from Vicki Correia

[I spent the better part of the day online researching agility tunnels, and found a website where we can get a competition quality agility tunnel (sturdier than the "practice" models, and will last a lot longer), for only $130.00. This is a screamin' deal, folks, the next best price I can find is $250.00 ... We would also need the braces to hold it in place, so it doesn't go rolling across the yard when the dogs run through, and they are $50.00 for the pair. AND, we can get them in 4H green! AND... FREE SHIPPING!

I talked to my friend who does lots of agility competitions and is friends with a lady who founded one of the national agility organizations. This lady buys tunnels all the time from this same company, and she says we won't find a better price anywhere.

Colleen or Campbell - if the committee agrees to purchase this, I don't have a problem putting it on my credit card (and getting the reward points), but I need to be reimbursed before the November 25th (credit card payment due date). What is the process?]
